

Trainee Trustee Scheme

Spitalfields Music is a learning organisation, with a strong commitment to creating opportunities for people otherwise under-represented in the music sector. This extends into governance, where we want to offer up to five opportunities to shadow our board of trustees over the coming year, so that Spitalfields Music and the wider arts sector can benefit from more diverse perspectives and experiences. (If you'd like to know more about what it means to be a trustee, have a look at <https://www.gettingonboard.org/be-a-trustee> for a great overview).

The programme will encompass four elements:

- A paid-for place on an online 'essentials of trusteeship' course
- Observer status at the four Spitalfields Music board meetings held between January & December 2024 (it's likely that two will be held online, and two in real life)
- A board 'buddy', in the form of an existing trustee, to help explain and navigate the responsibilities of directors of the charity
- Pre- and post-board meetings (online) with Spitalfields Music senior leaders so that those on the programme understand fully the agenda, papers and implications and impact of decisions made by trustees

Trainee trustees will be encouraged to participate fully in board meetings as they will bring new perspectives and lived experiences. However, they will not be full trustees with legal or financial responsibilities during their 'traineeship', nor will they have a vote at AGMs or at other points.

This will be the third time Spitalfields Music has run the scheme. In the first two years of the scheme, we have worked with nine individuals from under-represented backgrounds. Three former Trainee Trustees have since taken up full trusteeships across the sector, including one joining the Spitalfields Music board.

This initiative is primarily available to:

- People of the Global Majority
- D/deaf, disabled and neuro-divergent people *
- People aged under 35

\ We will help with the costs of BSL interpreter/ caption facility/ access support worker as required.*

We have highlighted these groups in particular, as they are under-represented amongst our trustee body at present. People who do not fall into one of the above categories are welcome to apply but are unlikely to be selected for interview.

What you will gain from the scheme

- Formal and informal training on charity governance and what it is to be a trustee
- Access to a professional network of trustees and prospective trustees
- Meaningful opportunities to influence the organisation's strategic direction through participation in board meetings
- Access to informal mentoring with senior leaders and trustees

What we are seeking

We are seeking proactive people who are interested in becoming a trustee but currently lack experience or knowledge of what is entailed. We will recruit on passion for the arts, commitment to becoming a trustee in the future, and awareness of the skills that you could bring to Spitalfields Music over the next year. We would ask that you make yourself available for all four board meetings over the course of the scheme. Meetings are typically two hours long; take place in the evening and are held in February, April, July & October. Exact dates and times of meetings will be confirmed later in the recruitment process.

"I just want to thank you for running this scheme. I couldn't find any other organisation which offered something similar".

Melanie Fryer

Holly Holt

Hannah King

Naomi Lewis

Daniel Nikolareas

Louise Williams

Trustees are directors who serve the charity on a voluntary basis. They are legally responsible for the organisation. Trustees are elected for a three-year term, which can be renewed for a further three years through a majority vote by other trustees. In exceptional circumstances, a 75% majority of trustees present can vote a fellow trustee for a final three-year term, taking the maximum length of tenure to a total of nine years. Most trustees serve a six-year term. Our current chair, Maurice Biriotti, is due to step down in early 2024 having served three full terms. We are currently recruiting for a new chair.

Trustees meet formally four times per year for board meetings and can be asked to sit on other standing committees - such as the Finance & Legal Committee and the Environmental, Social & Governance Committee - as well as other time-limited task groups.

"It was one of the only schemes that I came across that supports the development of trustees in the arts sector and is led by the needs of the participants. It is a shining example of how small organisations can play a part in creating wider sector change and I hope it continues to develop for many years to come!"
